DEWEY, WARREN NOMINATED

DEWEY RULES BRICKER OUT FOR 2ND SPOT

Decision Against Ohioan Conveyed to Sen. Taft by GOP Nominee.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 25—The Ohio delegation was informed today that advisers to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, had ruled out John W. Bricker as his running mate, an authoritative source said.

This information, the source added, was conveyed by Dewey to Senator Robert A. Taft, who withdrew from the presidential contest last night in favor of the New Yorker.

Dewey was reported to have said the conferees agreed it would not be wise to have the same Dewey-Bricker ticket which lost to the Democrats in 1944.

Fred H. Johnson, Ohio Republican state chairman, told a reporter Bricker did not wish to be presented to the Republican convention as a vice presidential candidate unless Dewey personally asked him to accept that role.

List of Advisers

The same authoritative source who reported on the Dewey advisers' judgement on Bricker went on to say that they constituted a "little supreme court" on the vice presidential "case."

He explained that when Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, co-chairman of the Ohio delegation, and Johnson visited Dewey about 1 a. m. today they presented their case for Bricker to a "board" including Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Senator Raymond Baldwin of Connecticut, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, Herbert Brownell Jr., a Dewey manager, G. Mason Owlett, Pennsylvania Republican national committeeman and J. Russell Sprague, New York, New York national committeeman.

Senator Taft did not sit with the group. He telephoned Dewey early last night to urge that Senator Bricker be considered for the vice presidential spot.

Governor Herbert presented the 53 Ohio delegates' unanimous recommendation that Dewey give his blessing to Bricker.

"We urge all delegates to support him as we know that if the delegates want him, he would be willing to serve," the Ohio delegation said in a statement.

Reads Taft Withdrawal

Bricker, who nominated Senator Taft for the presidential nomination in Wednesday night's convention session, read to that body last night his colleague's statement of withdrawal.

The statement was telephoned by Taft from his hotel headquarters about 7 p. m., and was disclosed to the delegates as they prepared to cast a third ballot. On the second ballot the principal candidates stood: Taft 274; Dewey, 515, or 33 short of the 548 needed for victory.

The more than 300 votes which Taft claimed he could muster had failed to materialize; the stop-Dewey coalition which he organized was breaking apart, and some of the states with "favorite son" candidates had failed to come forward with the support he had expected.

After Bricker read Taft's message, urging the other states to line up behind the New Yorker, they climbed aboard the Dewey bandwagon in a hurry and the 1944 standard-bearer was renominated unanimously.

CIO AUTO WORKERS COUNTER FORD OFFER

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, June 25—The CIO United Auto Workers countered the Ford Motor company's offer of an 11-14 cent hourly wage increase with revised demands of its own today totaling twice that much.

A UAW spokesman said the demands would cost Ford at least an additional 28 cents an hour.

The union demands include:

(1) A flat 14-cent an hour pay raise;

2) A company financed hospitalization, health and medical care program equal to another eight cents an hour;

(3) Elimination of what the union called "differentials in economic standards between Ford and its competitors." This would include higher night differential pay, more vacation pay, elimination of "so-called merit spreads," more call-in pay and other fringe benefits, adding up to six cents an hour.

Ford, earlier this week, offered a 14-cent raise to all of its 110,000 employes making more than the average $1.50 an hour and 11 cents to those making less.

In October, 1943, he was credited with the possible destruction of a Jap dive bomber, and on Nov. 5, the same year downed two Jap dive bombers while participating in an aerial patrol of six P-40's over Bougainville in the Solomon Islands.

Upon entering the service, Capt. Gunder was first stationed at Patterson Field, O. SOVIET ORDER CUTS OFF FOOD

Russia Moves To Force Allies From Berlin; "Here To Stay," Clay Asserts.

By The Associated Press

Russia cut off food today from her zone to the U.S., British and French areas of Berlin in an accelerated effort to force the allies out. The Russians had stopped the flow from western Germany by asserting the lone railroad needed repairs. They again disrupted electric service in western Berlin.

British foreign secretary Ernest Bevin told the house of commons the situation in Berlin is delicate. He said the 2,000,000 persons in the western zones of Berlin were displaying great calmness.

He stood by a previous assertion that the British will remain, "whatever provocation there may be." The U.S. military governor, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, has said nothing short of war can force the Americans out.

Russia and her seven Communist states of eastern Europe called in their Warsaw conference for what they termed a "provisional democratic, peace-loving all-German government." Stripped of verbiage, that meant a Communist Germany under Russia's thumb.

The Warsaw conference agreed upon one more try for German unity. The fact remained that Russia has blocked every previous attempt of the western powers to attain that unity and a German peace treaty.

DEWEY PROMISES JOB HOUSECLEANING

By The United Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 25 — Republican presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey has pledged the "biggest housecleaning you ever have seen in Washington next January."

He made the promise in an extemporaneous speech to his workers after accepting the GOP nomination.

Gov. Dewey said President Truman has asked for $30,000,000 to "rout the Communists out of the government."

"Nobody will have to ask congress for money to run the Communists off the government payroll (next January) There won't be any appointed after January 20.

"Starting January 20, we will bring teamwork to our national administration. We will work for a great, solid peace."

Gov. Dewey promised that a Republican victory in November will bring to Washington a government "whose word can be trusted."

"We will again bring purpose to our national administration," he said.

Convention First Aid Station Kept Busy

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 25—The turkish bath heat at convention hall has exacted its toll of delegates and spectators, the GOP convention first aid station said today.

More than 100 men and women —among them Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois, were treated for heat prostration yesterday before a howling rain and wind storm dropped the temperature 20 degrees.

In its campaign to keep the delegates in good health despite the sweltering temperature in the huge convention hall, the first aid station distributed more than 10,000 salt tablets.

He was taken to the City hospital.

Crossing from north to the south side of West Center street at the Davida and Center street intersection, Mr. Pearson was hit by the Wallace car turning left onto Kenton avenue from Davida street, police said.

Mr. Pearson, who had lost an arm and foot in previous accidents, is in fair condition, the hospital reported. The driver is not being held by police.

SISTERS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Girls Die Instantly as Train Hits Car at Crossing in Forest.

Special to The Star

KENTON, June 25—Two teenage sisters were killed instantly and their father was critically injured when he drove the family car into the path of New York Central passenger train No. 238 at nearby Forest yesterday afternoon.

Dead are Madeline Musgrave, 16, and her sister Marjie, 13, Mt. Blanchard High school students, of near Williamstown, Hancock county.

Injured is Harvey Musgrave, father of the two girls. He suffered back injuries in the crash. His condition was reported as "poor" by attendants at San Antonio hospital at Kenton today.

Others Escape

Seven-year-old Lowell Musgrave, riding between his sisters and Mrs. Musgrave, riding beside her husband in the front seat, escaped injury. The car was demolished.

Mr. and Mrs. Musgrave, the two girls, and son, Lowell, were enroute to the home of another daughter, Mrs Mary Leeth of Forest when their car was struck by the train enroute from Toledo to Bellefontaine at the "blind" Zimmerman street grade crossing in Forest.

Investigators at the scene report Musgrave drove into the path of the southbound train. Sight of the track at this crossing is cut off by a large locker plant building which abuts the railroad at Zimmerman street.

Both Killed Instantly

Force of the crash threw Madeline 65 feet while the body of Marjie was found 45 feet from the crossing.

Both girls were killed instantly. Dr. J. A. Mooney, Hardin county coroner, issued a verdict of accidental death after an investigation.

Funeral services for the two sisters will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Union Chapel church, west of Forest. Rev. J. J. Anglemeyer, pastor of the church, will officiate. Interment will be in Hunston cemetery at Forest. Friends may call at the Shields funeral home in Forest.

N. Y. Governor Picks His Own Running Mate

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Correspondent

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA, June 25—Thomas E. Dewey and California's Earl Warren are the 1948 Republican presidential ticket.

Dewey was unanimously nominated by the 24th national GOP convention last night.

He picked Warren to run with him as vice president and the convention today by acclamation confirmed that choice.

Only One Presented

No name other than Warren's was presented for the vice presidency.

Arizona gave notice of nominating Harold E. Stassen but a few minutes later withdrew it.

Chairman Joseph Martin put Warren's name before the convention and declared him nominated by acclamation.

New York's Dewey, getting his second chance at the presidency, made it an East-West all-governor ticket after an all-night series of conferences.

The word quickly spread to convention hall and the delegates didn't take long to whoop through Warren's name.

Leaders of ranks of other disappointed presidential hopefuls were quick to line up behind the Dewey-Warren combination.

Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois said the Illinois delegation undoubtedly would support Warren.

Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio, Dewey's running mate in 1944, told newsmen he personally would support Warren and thought the entire Ohio delegation would.

Backers of Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, said they, too, would support Warren. They had tried to win the nomination for Halleck.

Joseph Pew, a Pennsylvania political leader, predicted that the Keystone state would swing in line behind the California governor.

Senator William Knowland of California said Warren would accept.

Long Conferences Held

The ticket which Republicans hope will end 16 years of Democratic rule in Washington was completed at a series of conferences that went on most of the night and continued through the morning.

There was tense waiting throughout the downtown political camps as Dewey, unanimously given a second chance at the presidency, kept the convention waiting for his choice of a running mate.

At 9:30, the hour set for this convention to consider nominations for vice president, there was scarcely a major politician in the hall.

Chairman Joe Martin had not put in an appearance. The GOP bigwigs who sit on the platform were absent.

They were waiting downtown for the word from the New York governor, now quarterbacking the Republican drive to gain full control of the national government.

Most of the delegates were in their places, but there was tier after tier of empty seats in the galleries.

In a hotel suite downtown, Dewey still was pondering the recommendations he got for a running mate after he bowled over all opposition last night and became the first defeated Republican presidential candidate ever to win renomination.

Many Favored Bricker

For sentimental and other reasons, many delegates wanted him to pick Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio.

Bricker ran with Dewey in the 1944 Republican debacle in which Franklin D. Roosevelt won his fourth term.

It was up to Dewey to decide whether he wished to duplicate that ticket.

There were other considerations and other candidates than Bricker.

One of these was Harold E. Stassen, Minnesota's young former governor who tried hard but failed to top the ticket. Stassen's best friends said, however, he didn't want the job.

Another was Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, floor leader of house Republicans who represent the so-called "nationalist" wing of the party — as opposed to Dewey's "international" viewpoint. Bricker and Halleck were in the same corner on this score.

Halleck spent nearly an hour and a half closeted with Dewey and Gov. Earl Warren of California in a conference that didn't break up until dawn.

Neither shed any light on the situation when they left. Warren, who had insisted that he was not interested in the No. 2 spot, said only that his advice had been sought.

When Indiana Acted

Halleck tossed Indiana's 29 votes into the Dewey pot yesterday when a lot of delegates weren't quite sure that the New York governor could make the 548-vote grade for the nomination.

Halleck may have been the early in his surrender as a favorite son, some of the delegates said.

The final, climbing bandwagon for Dewey apparently came after the klieg-lighted, roaring convention had recessed after a second ballot which showed these important results:

Dewey, 515, only 33 short of the nomination.

Senator Taft, the nearest contender, 274.

Stassen, 149.

Almost everybody in the closely packed hall — including Arthur Brisbane on the top row of the third tier — knew it was all over.

Down on the sulking, noisy, littered convention floor — where the delegates sat panting in their shirt-sleeves — Senator Raymond A. Baldwin of Connecticut sensed it quickly.

Baldwin — sitting a row ahead of Herbert E. Brownell, Dewey's campaign manager — had been under a lot of pressure as a favorite son who still was holding on to Connecticut's 19 votes.

They weren't enough to put Dewey over, so Baldwin went hunting for others who might feel as he did.

Senator Pew Helps

He found a willing companion in Senator Irving Ives of New York, a Dewey backer. They got together with Ferguson of the Michigan delegation which had been holding out 41 votes for Senator Arthur Vandenberg.

They collected Senator Knowland of the California delegation, which had been casting 38 solid votes for Gov. Earl Warren. Senator Cooper of Kentucky, a Vandenberg rooter, went along.

They surged onto the platform and milled around in an attempt to get a poll of the Connecticut delegation. But Henry Fletcher, the parliamentarian, said they could change Connecticut's vote on the second roll call but couldn't make a state poll.

They decided in a sweating conference to let it go for the time being, recess the convention for a couple of hours and see what happened.

When New York (Dewey) raised no objection, House Speaker Martin, the Republican chairman, banged the recess through.

It didn't take long to settle the issue.

The Connecticut delegation met in a hotel caucus. Nobody said publicly what happened.

Warren Wins Ballots

But in a hotel room a few blocks away, at about 8 p. m. eastern standard time, Governor Warren signed a letter to the California delegation releasing their pledge to him.

Knowland, who had been the leader in a futile effort to get the nomination for Warren, then tel-

At Republican Convention

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

PHILADELPHIA

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS:

There is a look that doesn't come every day into a woman's eyes. It came at 8:13 (EST) last night into the eyes of one woman.

She is a handsome dark-haired woman and was wearing a pert black hat—the kind men like because it ain't foolish — a neat black suit, and a rope of pearls.

She stood on a platform in convention hall beaming a smile who had just won the Republican presidential nomination. He was also the first Republican since the party's founding in 1856 who had gained a second nomination after losing to a Democrat.

HAL BOYLE

The woman was Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey, who once told an interviewer that the only career she desired was to be "my husband's wife."

And she was living up to her career. As Governor Dewey threw up a confident hand to the cheering crowd, she turned on him the look that every husband who loves his wife sometimes hopes to see in her eyes. Her eyes said in shiny eloquence:

"Look at my man. Isn't he something? My Tom. They're cheering you again."

And she knew that every woman in the vast crowd of 14,000 people there knew the pride she felt, for all women see these things in other women's eyes. And so do a lot of men, too.

I don't envy Tom Dewey his title and his worriesome campaign ahead. But I do envy him that look of proud loyalty that Frances Hutt Dewey gave him.

The average man gets it from his wife only on their night out together when he tells a snooty waiter to take her steak back and cook it the way she said. Her here! Or maybe when he reaches down their small child's gasping throat and pulls out the chicken bone choking her.

THE FUNNY THING about getting that wifely look of "you're - the - only - man - in-the-world-for-me" is that you don't have to be a winner to get it.

You are as likely to get it from the old girl when the world has you a loser as when you are the people's crowned savior of things-that.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg may have wondered at the last moment whether he shouldn't have made a real grab for the nomination that would have crowned his long career of public service. There were many, many people who wanted him to.

But I think Mrs. Vandenberg was completely honest when she said she hoped her husband wouldn't get it. Her man, after all, had given years trying to build an America and a one-world-for-all he believed in. She knew he would keep on doing that.

To her and to him, fighting for international unity is more important than to head one segment of a world—even our own big segment. I think she thought that the last best gift of life to her was his:

"Honey, you're my presidency —and I've had you for a long time. Now we can have more time together."

I THINK, BEING ALL my life fundamentally juvenile and in love with my own wife, Frances, that in this—our busy civilization —the thing that wives desire most is to be more with their husbands, and to share more in the worries they try to hold to themselves.

That is why I think that even witty Martha Taft must have gone to sleep last night with a feeling of relief.

She must have enjoyed the feminine consolation, alleviating to the hurt of her husband's defeat, that Senator Bob will be with her more often for the next few months—or years— than if he had won yesterday.

It is a wonderful thing to see your wife's eyes looking at you in love and admiration when you are the knight of the moment, tossing your head in victory to the crowd.

It is even more wonderful to see her turn to you in your hour of outside defeat with her eyes of inside love and loyalty.

That is the reward today for a number of Republican candidates for the party's nomination. They'll have more fun at home for a long time than the man who beat them.

He's got to be a traveling salesman.

Rules Change Little Over Years As Great Game Of Politics Goes On and On

By CLARE BOOTHE LUCE

PHILADELPHIA, June 25—The nomination of Thomas E Dewey recalls my first experience of "practical politics." It is a story not without significance for those whose favorite candidate failed to be nominated last night.

One blistering July day just 16 years ago, I took a train from New York to Chicago to see my first political convention. This was the Democratic convention that picked Franklin D Roosevelt. Like the GOP convention last night, it was certain it was picking the next president.

On the train leaving New York was a flock of Democratic notables including Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, former president's widow, Admiral Cary T. Grayson, who had been White House personal physician, and General Hugh (Old Iron Pants) Johnson. As I remember, all were for Alfred E. Smith. Among the journalists aboard were Clare B. Luce, Mark Sullivan, Frank Kent, and Walter Lippmann, who even in that distant time were top-notch news analysts.

I was totally ignorant of the mechanics of party politics and the machinery of conventions. But I was as aware as the next person of the depression and the Republican inability at that time to deal with it. That was the era of the harrassed and abused and smeared Herbert Hoover, who became the nation's whipping boy for creating a depression that had its roots, at least partially, in world conditions. To anyone who would listen on that train, I asked why didn't the better elements of both parties come together to form a progressive party that would give a new deal to America. (One of the journalists aboard liked that phrase so much that he passed it on to the Democratic brain trusters later.)

As I look back now, the patience of those experience convention-goers was remarkable. For example, Frank Kent listened, nodding most sympathetically to my youthful enthusiasm for a new party. Then he retired to his compartment and returned with a book he had written, called "The Great Game of Politics." This book is still a classic of its sort. The first sentence begins "A president is made in the city wards . . ."

However, there was one person on that train who gave great comfort to my grave doubts about the insufficiency of good men in either party. Walter Lippmann had shrewdly foreseen the probable nomination of Franklin Roosevelt with New York's strategic 97 votes in his pocket.

He had written repeatedly that he did not like what he foresaw.

As I recall it, he had penned one much-quoted column to the effect that FDR was a "synthetic" character and a man who had no qualifications for the White House except a vast desire to be president. Lippmann, a Democrat, threatened to desert the party and to go to any new party, however small, if Roosevelt were the convention's choice.

Soon after I arrived in Chicago, my own enthusiasm began to center around that once-defeated but still-gallant warrior, Al Smith. In youth, one is fiercely partisan in one's reaction to personalities and programs. I grew more and more distressed as it became evident that in this "Democratic year" Roosevelt was going to win out over the very man who had made him governor. As the heat grew more intense in Chicago, so did my distaste for "homo politicus." It became plain that the New Yorker's strategic position, plus a smoothly working New York state machine plus able Jim Farley, plus a crew of aides who buttonholed delegates around the clock, were going to carry the day.

Then the balloting began. After the Texas-Garner deal, it was plain that FDR was in. That is always the point when a national convention hall turns into a sheep pen.

Roosevelt was nominated at dawn, after a long night of balloting. As the delegates and guests piled out by the hundreds into the littered corridors, I encountered Lippmann. My heart bounded with girlish admiration for this gallant journalist, who was walking slowly through the crowds, his black head bowed, his face unshaven, perspiration pouring off his pale brow . . .

No one else had "held." He would hold! I thought. His clear, clean, bold pen would challenge some unknown statesman to step forth and give us young people real leadership . . . And he would perhaps even masterminds that new party for a new deal for America!

"What do you think—" I began.

"I'm too punch drunk to think anything tonight," he said, and disappeared in the crowd.

Admiral Grayson, General Johnson and Mrs Wilson, who had never once lost her gracious serenity during the fierce battling, took me back to the hotel. I said to the admiral, "Of course, you won't come out for him." Mrs. Wilson smiled softly and looked off down some tragic remembrance of memory and said nothing. Grayson said, "you must admit he's a great organizer—he's just a wonderful machine. The machine didn't quite fail us as a FDR administration."

General Johnson exploded. "Cary," he said, "you know the nominee's a scoundrel."

"Yes, and Grayson, but don't forget, he's our scoundrel now."

The next morning I phoned Walter to find some antidote to bitter about that convention or a previous one. A week later he was supporting Roosevelt.

It was a great game of politics. It still is.

THOMAS E. DEWEY: Prosecutor, Governor and Family Man

Presidential candidate-to-be. High school student at 16. Begins big step in home on special occasion.

With Mrs. Dewey at fireboard, Dewey, his mother, his in-laws and the two Dewey sons, Thomas, Jr., and John, join in family get-together song session.

As New York's governor, he signs bill passed by the state legislature into law in his Albany office.

At Republican Convention

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

PHILADELPHIA

THOMAS E. DEWEY was no Republican presidential nomination with the big help of three political "pros."

Those three men were his political brain trust: Herbert Brownell Jr 44 J Russel Sprague 61 and Erwin Jaeckle 55

All three are New York lawyers They ran his campaign for the presidential nomination in 1940 when he just missed it again in 1944 when he got and now again when he go again.

Both Brownell and Sprague have been around the country a lot whipping up Dewey support and all three have worked unceasingly here in Philadelphia

James Marlow

Against the kind of carefully worked out campaign to snare votes for the nomination of some of the other contenders at this convention most have like the chances of amateurs

For instance Governor Earl Warren of California wanted the nomination and the 53 delegates from his state voted for him solidly but very few others did

The Dewey forces had 20 rooms on an upper floor in the Benjamin Stratford hotel here and they rented the huge main ballroom on the first floor

Delegates convention visitors and Philadelphians who wanted a look-see at politics could wander into the ballroom and drink soft drinks.

But the real work of the Dewey campaign was done in those rooms up stairs — the real Dewey headquarters and among the 1 094 delegates to the convention.

SQUADS OF DEWEY people were assigned to each of the state delegations And that meant a lot of squads since there are 48 states

Reporters assigned to the Dewey headquarters say as many as five people were assigned to each state delegation and were able to report to Dewey headquarters at any time on how each delegate in each delegation would vote

Their job was to try to win over for Dewey as many of those delegates as they could

And, when necessary the Dewey braintrust got, or tried to get, them to visit the headquarters to be persuaded

Brownell, Jaeckle and Sprague now have had long years of experience in a drive like this for the presidential nomination. They're true political professionals.

If you had been in the convention hall yesterday and as night you would have understood how cool political pros like Dewey's team can be

TO WIN, DEWEY needed 548 of the 1,094 delegate votes On the first ballot he got 434 On the second ballot he got 515 up to 515 which left him needing 33 to win.

This was late in the day And then the convention recessed until 7:30 p m Pretty soon the delegates looking for a sandwich and a cool drink heard rumors of this

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, Harold E Stassen of Minnesota and Governor Earl Warren of California were using the recess time to have a confab to decide what they'd do about the third ballot coming up at 7:30 p m

All three rivals of Dewey had been trailing badly But what nobody knew was that Ohio's Taft Dewey's closest rival on the first two ballots had called those three in conference at 7 p m and said something like this

"THERE'S NO CHANCE for anybody but Dewey winning now I'm withdrawing and asking the Ohio delegation which has been backing me, to throw its votes to Dewey

When the delegates sat down at 7:30 p m Brownell, Sprague and Jaeckle suddenly appeared on the speaker's platform for the first time in the convention and sat down with extremely pleased looks on their faces

Almost immediately Ohio's other senator, Bricker a friend of Taft told the delegates that Ohio upon Senator Taft's request was throwing its votes to Dewey

That broke up the show Taft other candidates then released their delegations and on the third ballot Dewey got the votes of all 1,094 delegates

Bricker laughed after Jaeckle when Bricker finished talking and sighed This is the first time I've been able to relax in a long time."

But the Dewey braintrust, as said about checking on how each state delegation would vote — one state slipped up on its own figures 9 delegates, or else took too much for granted.

In the first two ballots 96 New Yorkers voted for Dewey but refused Taft On the third ballot he joined the parade and voted for Dewey too

County Shares General Big Wheat Crop Promise

With prospects of a wheat crop that may exceed the average yield of the last 10 years by 30 per cent and corn booking fair to be well in advance of the traditional "knee high by July 4" stage come the end of June, Marion county farmers are facing prospects of a banner year.

A yield of not less than 25 bushels to the acre was the conservative prediction made today on the Marion county wheat crop by County Agent Arthur H Smith. Both wheat and corn acreage has gone up this year according to crop service reports and with prospects so far indicating a heavy wheat yield and corn off to a speedy start, farmers who suffered a generally bad year in 1947 may get back on the profit side by fall.

Added Acreage This Year

Heavy and late spring rains which delayed planting and early frost contributed to one of the shortest corn crops in recent years for Marion county farmers. Additional acres went in this spring, not only in corn, the basic grain, but in wheat as well. The county agent's estimate indicated an increase of more than 2,000 acres over the total acreage in wheat in 1947.

Unless some unforeseen factor interferes, 1948 will produce one of the largest wheat crops in Ohio in recent years, according to estimates made by the Ohio crop reporting service.

With the winter wheat harvest not more than a month away, the traditionally conservative preharvest outlook of farmers who know from experience that anything can happen between now and the time that the final acre has been cut and the wheat safely in is giving way to frank admissions that the wheat "sure looks good this year."

Storm About Only Damage

They concede that about the only thing that can spoil a near-record yield is severe storm damage, always a danger of heavy stands of wheat. Even a dry spell would not seriously affect the crop now rapidly approaching maturity, the farmers say.

There are about 25,000 acres under wheat in Marion county this year as compared to 22,600 last year, County Agent Smith reported today.

His estimate on the prospective yield was "not less than 26 or even 27 bushels to the acre for Marion county as it appears now."

Last year's yield figured out at 21.2 bushels, he said.

Estimate on Ohio

Quoting Ohio crop reporting service figures on statewide prospects, the county agent indicated a 56,056,000 bushel estimate for Ohio this year, 14 per cent above the 19,028,000 bushels raised last year and 30 per cent more than the 10-year average yield from 1937-46.

In the nation, the estimate has been pegged at 877 million bushels of winter wheat and 315 million bushels of spring wheat for an overall total of 1,192,000,000 bushels, second largest crop on record, the county agent said.

Committee Conducts Program for Grange

For a meeting of United Grange Tuesday night at the Claridon school, a program was in charge of the home economics committee of which Mrs John Schultz is chairman. Awards in a no-kneed health bread contest went to Mrs. Clay Smith and Mrs. Bertha Stewart. Mrs. Clifford Strine was judge for the local competition. The contest is being conducted in each Grange of the state. During the refreshment hour, the bread entered in the contest was served. Four new members were given the membership obligation. Music included a trombone solo by Richard Lawrence accompanied by Mrs. John Paul Lawrence. "The Life of Christ in Story and Song," a flannelgraph presentation, was by Mr and Mrs. Robert Blankenship of Marion.

"Where Good Food and Good People Meet"

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"So there's where Aunt Katharine and Cousin Mary went," Faith said with an air of having solved a world problem, when I had asked the operator for Katharine's suite. "I couldn't figure out where they had gone, when I went through the bedroom and found they weren't there. You must have cleared everybody out for the hush—"

She clapped her hand over her mouth, and her eyes were so full of panic at the breaking of her promise, that I did not have the heart to reprove her.

"Do you see how easy it is to forget?" I said gently. "You must remember all the time."

"I won't forget again," she said solemnly, and then Katharine's voice came to my ears.

"Yes?" she said. "Oh, it's Madge! What's on your mind?"

"Plenty," I said. "But the coast is clear now."

"'Nuff said," she answered. "Mary and I will pick up our feet immediately."

"Good!" I answered, and then I wheeled around to Faith.

"I'm afraid I dropped my change purse in your room," I said. "Would you mind looking for it and bringing it back here?"

"Not a bit," she said, dashing toward her room. The instant her back was turned, I opened my pocketbook, took out the change purse, and locked it in my desk, tucking it into one of the pigeon holes. I eased my conscience—I seemed to be doing nothing else these strenuous days—with the reflection that Faith must get the idea that it was a privilege to be with Katharine, the attitude she always has. I did not want her to realize that there was no other choice for her this morning.

I went to the door and opened it the length of the night chain before the knocker sounded. When I saw Katharine and Mary coming along the hall, I slipped the chain, and went out the door to meet them, closing the door after me.

"Please get Faith over to your room as quickly as you can," I told Katharine. "She mustn't know what's going on, and I know if you put on your usual act, she'll think she's favored above all women, and won't dream there's no other choice for her today."

"If she ever suspected that, her yen for me naturally would drop out of sight," Katharine said. "I'd be medicine—"

"While now you're an intoxicating ice-cream soda," I said turning to open the door. "But we must hurry. She's hunting a change purse of mine in her room."

"I know that dodge," Katharine said, with a grin. "I hope you have it safely hidden."

"I have. I told her 'Mary, when Katrina gets Faith away, I'll tell you what's in store for you. Until then I wish you would go and lie down. You'll need all your strength.'"

"I'll give you all the news, Katharine, the first minute I can," I told my kinswoman, and she wrinkled her nose at me.

"I can wait indefinitely," she said, "as long as I can have Faith."

We went through the door, and at the same instant, Faith came back from her bedroom.

"I can't find your change purse anywhere," she said. "I hunted everywhere, and then I e-limi-nated, as you taught me, and I'm sure it isn't in that room. Are you sure you dropped it in there?"

Church Parking Lot Eases Ashley Traffic

Special to The Star

ASHLEY, June 25—The new parking lot at the rear of Ashley M E. church is now complete, and the public is being cordially invited to make use of this, thus eliminating traffic congestion on Route 229 in front of the church. The state highway department at Delaware is anxious to keep the highway clear and has hauled, gratis, crushed stone and gravel, donated by the Perry Stone company at Radnor. The Meredith Stone company of Radnor, and the Chesterville Stone company, Chesterville, also made donations, and the church paid for the hauling.

Altogether 60 tons of stone and gravel have been placed on the lot, which measures 66 feet by 186. A new concrete sidewalk three feet wide has been built from the parking lot to the east front door of the church along the east wall of the church. The strip of land for this was donated by Mrs. Dora Julian, whose property adjoins that of the church.

For all of these donations the trustees have expressed their sincere thanks.

The lot may be reached from either the front drive or from the rear alley. Lights will be installed as soon as possible. J. W. Henry and Charles Chadwick directed the work of spreading.

It is now possible to photograph human vocal cords in action.

Clear Site for New A. & P. Market Here

Buildings Removed To Make Way for Store.

Removal of a house and garage which occupied the North Main street frontage of the site of the new A & P super market, to be erected near the Greyhound bus terminal, was nearly completed today.

Clearing of an extensive thicket of small trees and large bushes now on the site will be the next step prior to beginning excavation. The new super market building will occupy the entire depth of the block between North Main and North Prospect streets.

Workmen of the Knowlton Construction Co of Bellefontaine, who will erect the new market building started work on the clearance of the area Monday.

Completion of the building has been set by Knowlton Construction Co. for a date in early September. An early fall opening of the new market here has already been announced by The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. from its Columbus headquarters.

FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1948

Louis H. Brush

THE EMPLOYES of this newspaper and the other personnel of Brush-Moore Newspapers Inc. share a strong sense of loss with the host of friends saddened by the death of Louis H. Brush Thursday morning in Philadelphia.

Mr. Brush made his career in newspaper work and remained a newspaperman all his life. Wherever he was, whatever he was doing, he never lost the instinct of inquiry which is the badge of the profession.

He possessed one of the highest aptitudes of the good newspaperman—a genuine fondness for people. He loved them as a humanitarian loves them, because he believed in their goodness. He had implicit faith in his fellowmen and drew to himself countless friends who basked in the warmth of his understanding companionship.

It was natural that politics became an outlet for his surpassing skill in the art of human relations. He was one of the best known figures in a generation of Ohioans whose interest in political matters made the state uniquely influential. In this avocation, as in newspaper work, his interest never diminished.

If a man who has earned it sometimes has the privilege of being where he would most wish to be when death comes, it could be imagined that Mr. Brush might have chosen the scene of a national convention among old friends, working for the presidential hopes of another Ohioan—Robert A. Taft, son of one of the presidents from Ohio he helped to elect a generation ago.

We who have known him as an employer, who have admired his loyalty to the ideals of our profession and have been the beneficiaries of his enterprise in the free society he cherished mourn his passing.

We shall think of him in the days and years ahead as we perform our tasks in the organization he helped to create. We shall aspire to be as faithful to our abilities as he was to his.

Our sympathy is given to Mrs. Brush and his grandson, to his associates in business and philanthropy, to his many close friends—to all who remember him fondly at this time of bereavement.

Berlin Incidents

IT IS being repeated too often for comfort that the western powers do not know what they would do if Russia blundered into an incident of open warfare in the Berlin area.

The western powers obviously do not know what they would do. They would have no choice. They would have to go to the defense of their nationals in a beleaguered city.

To do this they would have to be equipped with a plan of joint military action, a grand plan of strategy and a mutual understanding of their obligations and purposes. They would have to strike at the aggressor with their maximum power, or risk the probability that Russia might surge through western Germany into France and confront the world with a fait accompli—the conquest of Europe.

They would need to be assured in advance of manpower, armament and all the materials of war, because if Russia insists on precipitating Berlin incidents to squeeze the western powers out of that area it will be a declaration of war. That fact is too obvious to be avoided. It should be made as obvious to the governing officials of Russia as it is to every American who has thought about it.

If the western powers actually don't know what they would do if Russia demanded a showdown in the Berlin area the impeachment and court-martial of some very high officials are in order. If they do know, they should say so—a dozen times a day until the Kremlin gets the idea.

Bigger Than the Atom

A ROUTINE announcement by Charles F. Kettering, director of research for General Motors, may become as memorable as some of the early announcements about atomic fission. The problem of converting solar energy into fuel, Mr. Kettering says, has been blocked out for laboratory research.

He was referring to the systematic attempt to find out how solar energy is transmitted to vegetable matter and released asons later, after the vegetable matter has been converted by natural processes into coal and oil. If science could learn how to use a short-cut, the discovery would be equal in importance to nuclear fission. It might be more important, because solar energy is being transformed into chlorophyl continuously, while the release of atomic energy is confined to relatively rare fissionable materials for the present—and for the forseeable future.

Solar energy itself is the result of nuclear fission occurring in the elements of the sun—a vast laboratory safely distant from the earth. Man's search for a new source of energy on the earth can be conducted more safely in the direction of reproducing the phenomenon of the sun under laboratory conditions.

1948 Is Another Year

An Editorial

GOVERNOR DEWEY begins his second campaign for the presidency under vastly more favorable circumstances than existed in 1944.

These circumstances had a prominent part in the Republican convention's decision to break the party's precedent against renominating a defeated candidate.

In 1944 Governor Dewey had to run against Franklin D. Roosevelt at the climax of a great war in which Mr. Roosevelt was playing a triple role as chief executive of the United States, commander in chief of the armed forces of the United States and a world statesman. It was not surprising that Mr. Roosevelt won. It was surprising that Governor Dewey polled more than 22,000,000 votes while Mr. Roosevelt's vote dropped to 25,602,505 from his 1940 vote of 27,243,466.

Since 1944, the political coalition that reelected Mr. Roosevelt three times has fallen apart. The Republican party has won control of both houses of congress and made a sound legislative record. The party has resolved within itself a major issue threatening to split it apart four years ago—the issue of isolationism vs. benevolent internationalism. The benevolent internationalists have prevailed.

These are major assets for the party and for its presidential candidate in 1948.

IT still hasn't been grasped by those who fail to understand the extent of the New Deal's disintegration, but there is today only one party in the United States capable of administering the national government. The Truman administration does not represent a political party; it is the relic of a coalition that ceased to exist when Henry A. Wallace led its leftist fringe out of camp and southern Democrats and northern union executives turned against its nominal leader.

Governor Dewey, on the other hand, is the leader of a party that controlled the 80th congress and is amply equipped with leadership in all parts of the country except the south.

His strength as the party's presidential candidate will be borrowed from the strength of outstanding party figures like Senators Taft and Vandenberg, Governor Warren of California, former Governor Stassen of Minnesota and a dozen other exceptionally competent men. The Republican party is ready to step into the breach in public administration made by the collapse of the New Deal coalition.

Governor Dewey spoke of teamwork in his speech accepting the nomination Thursday night. He has the team. He has shown in New York that he knows how to organize the administration of public affairs. His basic theme of government is attention to the details of administration that add up to efficiency.

THERE has been nothing like that in the United States for so long that slipshod methods almost have come to be taken for granted—almost but not quite. Governor Dewey running on his record as an able administrator of the public business of New York, will have tremendous appeal to voters who have learned by hard and bitter experience that promise is not necessarily performance.

Governor Dewey thinks of political leadership as a problem in management. His approach to the problem is rational not emotional. It is the source of his political appeal. The United States is ready for a little less emotion, a lot less carelessness and a lot more efficiency.

Four years ago when he accepted the nomination, Governor Dewey said:

"For 150 years America was the hope of the world . . . here men believed passionately in freedom. Because we were what we were, good will flowed toward us from all corners of the earth . . . Our country is fighting its way through to new horizons. The future of America has no limit."

That was in wartime. The future was dark.

The future is still dark. But the United States is determined to brighten it by keeping the torch of freedom lighted and held high. The Republican party has reaffirmed its confidence in the ability of governor Dewey to state its case as the protector of freedom in this country.

Russia Invented It First

From the New York Times.

IN THE DAYS of the Czar, Russians did their best to convince the West that they were not semi-barbarians. They made the most of their academy of sciences, which is now an integral part of the Soviet government and which rules every laboratory from Vladivostok to Odessa; they pointed to some of their distinguished physicists, chemists and astronomers; they devised turbine locomotives and rocket ships before Germany, Great Britain and the United States. This self-preening continues at a heightening pace. For the last 10 years some bureau in Moscow has been digging into the history of science and invention, knowing it was bound to turn up Russians who had bright ideas about steam engines, incandescent lamps, steel girders, jet propulsion, radar and a score of other inventions. Whereupon the world is told that out of Russia came most of the important discoveries, processes and machines developed by the West.

The phenomenon is not new. Germans and Englishmen have long claimed that they invented the telegraph and not Morse, that they had electric lamps as soon as Edison did, that Fulton was not the inventor of the steamboat. The truth is there are no "first inventors."

Discoveries and inventions evolve. Volta had to precede Faraday, and Morse and Bell would have been helpless without Faraday's discoveries. Karl Marx was one of the first to point out that technologists respond to social needs, that every invention is an aggregation of well-known elements, that technical geniuses are not unique but inevitable in a scientifically minded and mechanized society. The Russians are therefore violating a cardinal doctrine of their economic divinity and proving themselves to be as chauvinistic as any "bourgeois" nation of the West has ever been. What is more, some of the inventions for which they now claim credit were developed under the capitalistic Czars—a circumstance that has still to be explained.

Propaganda has never before been used by a government so widely and so systematically to claim scientific and technological superiority over the rest of the world. Where this will end no one can foretell, but it should not astonish the "imperialistic" West to learn from Moscow that it was not Galileo who first turned the telescope on the stars and planets but some Gellewski of the 13th century, not some Viking or Cristoforo Colon who discovered America but a Russian Colonov who knew as far back as 1100 A. D. that by sailing westward he would land in a new world.

Billion Smokes a Day

Cigaret Consumption Soars Through the Years.

NEARLY one billion cigarets are used each day by American smokers. While complete figures for 1947 are not yet available, 1946 reports show sales of 352,000,000,000, more than double 1939 sales of 172,000,000,000.

In 1946, American consumers paid $3,400,000,000 for tobacco products and smoking supplies; in 1929, their expenditure was only $1,700,000,000. Estomates indicate the cigaret tax increases the United States Department of Labor consumer price index by nearly one per cent.

During 1946, cigarets accounted for 77 per cent of the tobacco used in production; in 1915, they accounted for only 10 per cent. Cigar smoking in the United States reached a peak of 8,100,000,000 cigars in 1920. In 1933, it dropped to 4,592,000,000. Although cigar consumption picked up immediately before and during the war, a decline has been noted since February, 1947, probably as the result of increased living costs. Consumers have recently had to pay six cents apiece for cigars which formerly sold at 2 for 5 cents.

Although the use of cigars and pipe tobacco has dropped in the last 30 years, the biggest drop has been in the use of chewing tobacco. Present consumption is less than one-third that of 1918.

The consumption of snuff has shown relatively little change over the past 30 years, although there was a definite increase during the war, as the result of bans on smoking in some war plants.

Cigaret demand seems little affected by rising prices or consumer income changes. Government surveys indicate that many people reduce clothing expenditures and even food purchases before cigarets and gasoline.

Why Patents Are Pending

BENEFITS of many war and postwar inventions are being wasted because the U. S. Patent Office, already two years behind in examinations, can't cope with the mounting flood of patent applications, Product Engineering reports.

In an article on "Patents and the Engineer" by H. A. Toulmin, Jr., nationally known patent attorney, the magazine points out that there are 150,000 cases pending. "Applications are being received at an annual rate of 70,000, nearly double the 1943 rate," the publication reports.

These factors are responsible:

Overcrowded facilities. At present 40 per cent more personnel occupy 20 per cent less space than before the war.

Inexperienced examiners. Today, 40 per cent of examiners have less than two years' experience.

Increasing volume of literature to be searched. Increasing numbers of technical publications, books and patents lengthen time of search.

Increasing complexity of cases. New complex discoveries make simple examinations impossible.

Contraction of examinings corps. Examiners experienced in special fields, lost through war or other reasons, caused examiners to work in unfamiliar fields.

High proportion of new cases in work load. Initial actions require more time than final actions.

Rising importance of validity. If a careful job is not done, patents held invalid by courts will cause lack of confidence in patent system.

Ringing Out Again

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, June 25, 1938.

Forty-eight great patrol bombers left San Diego, Calif. on the Navy's largest massed plane flight—1,200 miles non-stop—to Seattle.

Miss Anna Marie Murphy of Chestnut street was visiting in Washington D. C. and other points in the east.

Marion's first serious fire in more than a month caused damage in the amount of $250 at the home of Mrs. Joe Mason on Blaine avenue.

Dr. B. J. Cehrs was elected president of the Mutt and Jeff Dance club for the following season at the closing dance of the season held at the Marion Country club.

About 50 members of the Rural Mail Carriers association of the Eighth Congressional district met at the school building at Morral. Attending from Marion were Newell D. James, Marion county president, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. James Whaley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stansberry and Edward Smith.

The following from Marion attended a meeting of the Past Councillors Association of District No. 4, Daughters of America, at Crestline: Mrs. Essie Thompson, Mrs. Gera Griffiths, Mrs. Grace Lehner, Mrs. Relva Hoch, Mrs. Carrol Crotinger, Mrs. Naomi McCluskey and Mrs. Minnie Van Asbeck.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, June 25, 1928.

Police Chief James W. Thompson issued an order prohibiting sale or use of fireworks in the city on July 4.

A. D. Randall, 67, died at his home on Scranton avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip VonBlon and two sons of Indianapolis, Ind. were visiting at the home of Mrs. Von Blon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kramer of Vernon Heights boulevard. Mr. VonBlon was editor of the American Legion monthly magazine.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce proposal for a municipal airport was presented to city council by Rhu Cheney, chairman of the Junior chamber's airplane committee and Charles Whysall a committee member. Council ordered a survey of proposed sites.

Mrs. U. S. Davis was honored with a farewell party given by the World Wide guild of Trinity Baptist church at the home of Mrs. Aldon Myers on Davids street. Mrs. Davis was to leave soon for the east with her husband, who had resigned from the pastorate of Trinity church.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Retterer entertained a company of friends at their home on Marion street honoring Mr. and Mrs. Mark Whiteamire of Los Angeles, Calif. who were visiting here.

Our Poor Voting Record

Lack of Education Revealed as Chief Reason Many Stay Away from Polls.

THERE will be 94,800,000 Americans potentially able to vote next November in the national election. Four years ago there were 88,600,000 potentials. Eight years ago there were 79,800,000 potentials.

But in 1944, almost half the potentials stayed that way; they didn't vote. In 1940, there were 30,000,000 potential votes that didn't show up at the polls.

The National Education Association uses these comparisons to suggest there is something dangerously wrong with a free society whose potential voters do not use their freedom. In a study entitled "The Voter and Nonvoter" it shows that inadequate education is one of the major causes of the failure of Americans to use the ballot.

It concludes that nonvoters are less informed than voters and therefore reluctant to take part in elections—another way of saying what all politicians mean when they predict a light vote because there is no special interest in the issues. Uninformed voters, in other words, are indifferent. They stay home on election day.

Where Record Is Worst

States with the smallest percentages of voters relative to their populations are invariably among the states with the lowest educational attainment, the association's study reveals. Ten of the thirteen states in which the smallest percentage of voters went to the polls in 1940 were among the thirteen states ranking lowest in educational advancement of their people.

No state above the Mason-Dixon line in 1940 had less than a 65 per cent turnout. The average for 16 southern states was only 34 per cent, running as low as 10.1 per cent in South Carolina. While this was caused to some extent by voting restrictions, the study points to the conclusion that ignorance was the most important factor.

Using data compiled by the National Opinion Research Center, the N E A study proves that political participation increases with additional years of schooling. Eighty-one per cent of those who had gone to college cast ballots in 1940, as compared to 67 per cent whose education ended in or with the completion of high school and to 61 per cent who had not gone beyond grade school.

Votes in 1940 were cast by 84 per cent of the upper economic fourth of the population, 68 per cent of the middle economic group (comprising about half of the population) and 53 per cent of the lower fourth.

College Vote High

Within these economic groups, the college-educated in every group showed the largest percentage of voters.

Seventy-one per cent of the white population voted, as compared to 34 per cent of the non-whites, reflecting the restrictions on Negro voting in the south.

Other characteristics of voters revealed in the study are the high percentage of voters among Jews and the neglect of the franchise by women.

Voting also is related to differences in age groups. While 76 per cent of persons more than 40 years old voted in 1940, only 39 per cent of those between 21 and 39 voted. White collar workers had a turnout of 78 per cent, farmers 61 per cent, manual workers 60 per cent, service workers 56 per cent.

Citizenship Viewed Lightly

Many native Americans take their citizenship lightly. It is apparent from the National Opinion Research investigation that potential voters with both parents born in the United States showed a smaller percentage of balloting—64—than any others. Those with one parent born in a United Nations country and one in an Axis country scored 76 per cent in 1940, with both parents born in an Axis country 75 per cent, with either or both parents born in a neutral country 78 per cent. Even with the colored groups omitted, third generation Americans still lagged behind all other nationality groups.

The investigation indicates that stay-at-homes are less well informed than their voting neighbors, that there are about twice as many nonvoters without opinions on leading questions of the day as voters and that because of this condition of ignorance the nonvoters are inclined to stay away from the polls.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Thoughts on New York's Golden Jubilee

GREATER New York is celebrating its fiftieth birthday. It is half a century since all the boroughs were consolidated into one community and the congestions and confusions put under one head. The area now has twice as many people and a thousand times as many street excavations.

If a man who left 50 years ago could come back today he wouldn't know the old place. New York hass grown so tremendously that a native has to ask a cop for directions. (The cop has to take it up with a tax driver.—Ed note.)

The chaos, confusion and bedlam have grown one hundredfold, and so have our alibis. Fifty years ago New York had no automobiles; people could cross town and remain in their right minds!

It had no subways. The idea of running down into a hole to be trampled on never had appealed to a single resident.

There were no motor buses. People preferred to travel from point to point right side up.

Fifty years ago New York's policemen rode bicycles and faced less dangers more serious than getting a foot caught in a sprocket. The fire engines made noise going TO the fire but not coming BACK. The presto salad sandwich or "whatizzit had not been invented.

People never had to face the problem whether to take the hicarb before eating or after.

There was one restaurant then to 3,000 today, but the proprietors knew how to cook. You could travel a whole block and see something besides drugstores delicatessen shops and package stores. The moving picture was undreamed of. It was hard for a child to learn the technique of crime and if an adult wanted to kill anybody he had to figure out a way for himself, unaided by a great industry.

Fifty years ago there was no such thing as the double feature People, consequently, were never in a mood of chronic irritation.

New York only had a handful of theaters. The 25-cent charge for a glass of water with an orange peel in it between the acts was unheard of. There were no revivals, and whatever a Gothamite might see in a theater he could be sure it would not be another ballet.

The escalator had not been invented. Nobody was lazy enough to want to sit down while going up one flight of stairs.

Fifty years ago there were no electric signs in New York. People had to learn to spell some other way.

YE BROADWAY BUGLE & BANNER

Joe Yule, now in "Finian's Rainbow," is Mickey Rooney's old man. Joe has been on the stage 49 years. Started out in old time mellers like "Child Slaves of New York" and "The Volunteer Organist." Jim Corbett's man-eating tiger story has been made into a movie. It's the cat's. Mary Jane Watson was so swell in "Sleepy Hollow," which was murdered by the critics, that she is being sought for two new musicals. Marc Connelly, now Professor Connelly of Yale, has a new play, "A Story for Strangers," which saw a lot of work done on it while he was commuting between Gotham and the Elm City. Title for the Philly convention: "A Bandwagon Named Desire."

These a convention's key words are: "What do you hear?" and "Where's the bar?"

On Father's Day in our house the entire family paid tribute by standing beside us in ten seconds of silence while we went over the weekly bills.

"Sweet Dream," won a big stake race in New York recently, and we trust the chart comment previous to the event was: "May wake up."

Speaking of Bad Habits

By TRUMAN TWILL

What this country needs is a new bad habit to take its minds off its troubles.

Americans have tried everything from snuff to soft drinks to break the tension of being members of a complicated society. They have dabbled in tobacco and hard liquor to get relief from their cares.

They have become the world's most lucrative market for sedatives and hypnotics. All the possibilities of chewing gum have been exploited. But they still haven't found the ideal answer.

Proof of their failure is the fact that indigestion in all its forms is the national curse. Gastric ulcers, produced by unrelieved tension, have become a kind of national joke—and a pretty grim one.

The harder Americans try to find ways to break the tension, the more tension they create. Hard liquor creates social problems of its own. The tobacco habit becomes a heavy yoke on the bowed shoulders of those who developed it to lighten their burden. The sweetness gets chewed out of the chewing gum, the sedatives are habit-forming, and the soft drinks aggravate the gastric ulcers produced by the strains and burdens they were supposed to ease.

All these things having been tried without success, surely there must be something else that would capture public imagination and be good for a multi-billion-dollar whirl. At the very least, it would have the advantage of being a novelty, which isn't to be sneezed at in a country whose people have tried all the things there are and are still looking for something better.

The answer is betel chewing. The Encyclopedia Britannica says one-tenth of the human race already is addicted to it. Betel has been popular for centuries in oriental countries, where it is big business.

Betal chewing consists of taking a piece of betel nut wrapped in a leaf of betel vine, with a pellet of shell lime added and sometimes a little cardamon, turmeric or some other aromatic, to give flavor. This concoction stimulates the flow of saliva and stimulates digestion. It strengthens the gums, sweetens the breath and makes life rosy—obvious handles for hucksters to grab hold of if betel chewing becomes popular in the United States.

Betel chewing has one more big thing in its favor—and this one will send the hucksters into raptures. It stains the saliva a brick red color. The kiddies will go for that. So will the grownups. It will have the same appeal as chewing tobacco had to past generations.

It also discolors the teeth, another thing in its favor. Someone will think up a dentifrice to undo the damage, also a mouthwash, also a special kind of brush to handle the problem.

"Betel" is pronounced like "beetle." Remember to ask for it by name. It's good for you. It refreshes you. Feeling lowdown and mean? Having distress, before and after meals? Be There With Betel—Nuts to You!

"First Wedding" To Be Enacted in Morrow Co.

Special to The Star

MT GILEAD, June 25—One of the parts of a lighter vein than some of the episodes of the pageant to be presented by a cast of 400 July 3 and 4 here is the "First Wedding," of Sara Jane Wilson and Robert Miller now being rehearsed for the Morrow county centennial event "Memories of Morrow County."

Weddings in the early days were of rare occurrence and consequently events of importance. A general invitation was extended, and settlers came from every section of the county, decked out in their best finery to wish joy to the young couple and to join in the hilarity and good fun which attended the occasion.

Appearing in Scene

(Cardington, Herbert Fleming—sponsor).

For fun and a nostalgic recollection of the "good old days," the "gay nineties" will prove a strong highlight with buggies, bicycles and the "horseless carriage." Band concerts, a baseball game and a good old-fashion tug-o-war all add to the hilarity and merriment of the scene.

Appearing in this episode will be Mr and Mrs Robert Warner, Mr and Mrs Harold Reinoehl, Mr and Mrs Vernon Harrod, Mr and Mrs Walter Hazlett, Mr and Mrs Eugene Mansfield, Mr and Mrs Burr Detwiler, Mr and Mrs Walter Burns, Mr and Mrs C E Sherwood, John Cherrington, Irene Cherrington, C B Sharon, Mr and Mrs Clovis Thurston, Mr and Mrs Elmer Brown, Wayne Pfahler, Harold Detwiler, David Sherwood, Kay Cherrington, Carol Cherrington, Wanda Detwiler, Barbara Reed.

The brass band will be led by George Rule, and includes Robert Ehart, Junior Heemlich, Paul Jackson, Warren Squires, Lyle Mann, Eugene Heemlich, Frank Ehart, Kenneth Heemlich, Gerald Schote, and Donall Chew.

"Can Can Dancing Girls" include Joan Lancaster, Shirley Reed, Betty McMania, Thelma McCreary, Joan James, Kathleen Gear, Darla Detrow, Barbara Loren.

Business Women To Honor New Members

To honor members of the Business and Professional Women's club who joined the organization during the last club year, a tea will be held Sunday on the Central Christian church grounds on Mt Vernon avenue. Miss Mary K. Miley outgoing president, will be the hostess. Installation of new officers, headed by Miss LaVern Lash, president, will be held, and a program of music will be presented. The event is scheduled from 3 o'clock until 5. Miss Freda Smithberger of Lorain, membership chairman of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, will be a guest. New officers will begin their duties July 1, opening date of the club year. The tea will take the place of the club's June business meeting, Miss Miley stated.

BIBLE CLASS MEETS

A meeting of the Adult Bible class of Lee Street Presbyterian church was held Saturday night at the church with 27 present. Hostesses were Mrs. Maude Lowry and Mrs Faye Hoover, assisted by Mrs. Doris Tumbleson. Mrs Arthur Blair presided, and devotions were by Carl Castle. A social hour followed business. 1,000 EXAMINED BY X-RAY UNITS HERE

Total of 5,040 Expected Before End of Program.

C M Casey of Columbus, field supervisor in charge of mobile X-ray units of the state department of health, reported a total of 1,000 Marion industrial workers were examined by the two mobile units here in the first four days of operations. Workers of the Huber Mfg Co, Universal Cooler, Ideal Dairy Co, Fairfield Engineering Co. and Baker Wood Preserving Co. were X-rayed during the first three days of operations.

Mr Casey praised local industrialists for their cooperation in the statewide anti-tuberculosis examination program. "No finer cooperation has been encountered any where than has been extended us by Marion manufacturers," Mr Casey said.

Heavy public attendance occurred today when the units set up shop in front of the courthouse for free examinations. Extensive preparations were completed to handle large crowds of Friday shoppers who availed themselves of the three confidential health service.

The local examination program, sponsored by the U. S. public health service, the Ohio department of health, the Marion county health department, and the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health Association is part of a statewide program to locate and diagnose all suspected cases of hidden tuberculosis in industrial, farm, and public workers and their families. Cooperation of local industrialists and labor leaders has assured the examination of at least 5,040 plant workers here before the program ends July 2.

GOP Nominees Chosen

came a possibility for the vice president's nomination

Baldwin the man who may have joined the truck, was relegated to the sidelines So were the rest of the easterners who backed Dewey's stretch drive—Gov Alfred E Driscoll of New Jersey Robert F Bradford of Massachusetts and others.

They were not in the language of politics a New Yorker as top man on the ticket The pull was hard to pull in some cases

Taft making his second unsuccessful bid for the nomination (he tried first in 1940 seemingly resigned himself to life as a legislator

"Have Best Job," Says Taft

"Of course it was a disappointment," the Ohio senator told his delegation but I am probably better off personally

I have the best job in the world in the senate Taft said

Dewey pondered whether he should take over the title as well as the actual authority of the senate's majority leadership Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska has been serving in that post during the illness of Senator Wallace White of Maine who is quitting congress voluntarily next January

It was evident Dewey knew that if he is elected president he may have to deal in congress primarily with four men who were candidates if not sort or another for the nomination he got—Taft, Vandenberg Halleck and Martin

He had a ready-made secretary of state however in John Foster Dulles of New York Dulles was one of the back-stage architects of the United Nations charter

Long a foreign affairs advisor to Dewey he has been active in international conferences and UN meetings He and Vandenberg see eye to eye on bipartisan foreign policy

This circumstance was said by some Republicans to have advanced the chances of Bricker Halleck and Green — sometime critics of this policy in the traditional search for a ticket that will please all elements of the party

Dewey took his nomination in stride as though it were an old story to him

He had done just about what his campaign strategists had said he would do on the first ballot

The results of that first test were

Dewey 434 Taft 224 Stassen 157 Vandenberg 62

The other votes were scattered between GOP national chairman Carroll Reece Rep Everett Dirksen of Illinois Gov Alfred E Driscoll of New Jersey Gov Earl Warren of California Gov Dwight Green of Illinois Senator Raymond Baldwin of Connecticut House Speaker Joseph W Martin Jr and Gen Douglas MacArthur

After the third ballot had sealed the issue he strode into the convention accompanied by his pretty wife

Surrounded by a tight cordon of long-time helpers who fended off new-found friends the New York governor grinned widely as he mounted the dias

Dewey's Acceptance Speech

Dewey struck a peace chord in his 15-minute talk to be followed sometime later by a formal campaign opening speech

As long as the world is half-free he told the vigorously-fanning delegates we must peacefully labor to help men everywhere achieve liberty

He said that only in "a world order founded upon justice and righteousness will this planet find the kind of a peace worth having

Dewey named his six formal opponents for the nomination amidst bursts of applause Baldwin's name led all the rest

Along with the Connecticut Senator Dewey pointed with pride to Gen Douglas MacArthur Stassen Taft, Vandenberg and Warren.

There has been honest contention spirited disagreement hot argument he said But let no one be misled You have given moving and dramatic proof of how Americans who honestly differ close ranks and move forward for the nation's well being shoulder to shoulder "

Free of Obligation

Then of the choice of a running mate still ahead, Dewey said

"I came to you unfettered by a single obligation or promise to any living person free to join with you in selecting to serve our nation one fitted with good judgment, to the nation, free to unite our party and our country in meeting the grave challenge of our time.

The crowd yelled, but it really screamed later when Dewey made two appearances at his downtown hotel.

Marion citizens massed from curb to curb for a solid block, or swarmed out on a balcony to the Claridge, the headquarters party—and he in particular—when "one of the finest talents in the country to do the job of government that needs to be done.

Earlier he had tossed to a packed ballroom crowd promising that if he gets in office nobody will have to ask money from congress to fund communists on the payroll

There won't be any more appointed after Jan 20 he said.

If Dewey gets the nomination for which he began his campaign last night, Lieutenant Gov Joe R. Hanley will take over for the next two years a Albany He is expected to carry out Dewey's policies and could be expected to run for a four-year term of his own in 1950

Big and little Republicans came to talk with their new nominee

Gov Thomas J Herbert, representing Taft dropped around to say that the Ohio delegation would like it very well if Dewey had attended the University of Dayton for two years, majoring in accounting and financing. After finishing his sophomore year at the university he returned to Marion to work for the Erie railroad and was working for the Erie at Kent at the time of his enlistment.

Surviving besides his parents are two brothers Gene of 130 Garden street Don of 133 Garden street and a sister Mrs Pauline Walsh of Cincinnati

The body will be brought to the M H Gunder and Sons funeral home here Funeral services will be held at St Mary Catholic church and burial will be in St Mary cemetery

ond Lt Wayne E Shaw C E Reserve will supervise the work and assisting with the supervision will be the following personnel of the 497th Engineer Heavy Shop Co M Sgt John McCombs T 3 Wayne Barnhill T/3 Richard Curren T 5 Henry Ruhl and Pfc Robert White All are employes of the Marion Power Shovel Co The 497th Engineer Heavy Shop Co is a reserve unit sponsored by the Marion Power Shovel Co in the reserve affiliation program where leading manufacturers are sponsoring Army service type units when the civilian work of the industry parallels the war-time mission of the unit

According to records the Marion Power Shovel Co. unit is leading all others in the Marion area in point of organization

The Bailey bridge is a steel truss type bridge designed by an English engineer for which the bridge was named To meet production requirements in this country some of the details were altered but interchangeability of British-made and American-made parts were retained The bridge can be built by manpower alone since the heaviest part can be handled by six men However, when available units are usually employed since they add to the speed of erecting the bridge The design of the Bailey bridge is such that engineers are reminded of an overseas experience and it may be built to conform but the widest rivers and a carry the usual highway load.

LEWIS, OPERATORS, SIGN PAY AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON June 25 — John L Lewis and top of the soft coal operators today signed a new coal contract providing a $1-a day wage increase and twice as much money for the miners welfare pension fund

An official of the government-industry-owned coal mines had announced earlier he would not sign the agreement

A joint announcement by Lewis and the operators signed said the new contract except for the increased wage and pens on fund—kept the terms and conditions of previous wage agreements

QUESTION BOY ABOUT FIRES AT BUCYRUS

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, June 25 — County juvenile officers were to question a 16-year-old boy here today to determine if the youth was responsible for three fires which occurred under mysterious circumstances in the same neighborhood at about the same hour of the evening, several days during the last week.

The boy has already admitted having set one of the fires, which burned towels hanging on the clothes line at the Virgil C. Dible residence June 18. He will be questioned about a fire in the seat of a truck owned by H. E. Bailey found burning in the same vicinity Friday night and a rubbish fire at the rear of the Edsinger Appliance store Saturday night.

All of the fires occurred between 9:45 and 10 p. m.

None of the fires was serious.

A Gland That Works "Magic"

THE truest magic in the world is that worked every day for most of us by the body's glands of internal secretion, but few of us realize its wonder because we have no knowledge of what happens when one or the other of these secretions is lacking.

Take the thyroid gland, for instance. Doctors sometimes have occasion to see children who are born with some deficiency of this gland. The picture is about as far from that of a normal child as could be imagined. Dwarfed and stunted in stature, slow-moving and sluggish, these children also lack all of childhood's normal mental alertness and curiosity.

This condition is known as cretinism. Just why it occurs is not definitely known. Some children are born without a thyroid gland. In others, the gland is present and may be even greatly enlarged, but for some reason it manufactures little or none of its secretion. Lack of iodine or some interference with its absorption may be at the root of the trouble in the latter cases.

In any event if the trouble is discovered early and small doses of thyroid extract started at within a few weeks. Physical and mental sluggishness disappear, once remarkable changes occur, the bones begin to lengthen, abnormal fatty deposits shrink, and the child is entirely transformed.

The first signs of cretinism in a baby are failure to nurse well, to cry normally, and a tendency to sleep almost constantly. The tongue may become enlarged and some difficulty in swallowing develops early in most instances. In many cases, these signs may be so slight as to make the diagnosis difficult until, with time, the retarded growth of the bones—one of the most unmistakable evidences of cretinism—becomes apparent.

If cretinism is suspected small doses of thyroid extract should be started at once. As I said earlier, if the trouble is due to cretinism, remarkable changes will soon take place. Of course the dose of thyroid extract must be carefully regulated by the physician, since an amount that would be excessive in some cases will not overcome the deficiency in others.

Signs of cretinism in the older child are more marked. Failure to grow properly, swelling of the tongue, and failure to walk and to talk at the usual ages are all significant. Dryness of the skin and puffiness of the eyes are often present. A child deficient in thyroid secretion is usually mentally sluggish and likely to be overweight in comparison with his height.

It is important that cretinism be diagnosed early because the sooner treatment with thyroid extract is started, the better the results. If individuals with this condition are not treated early they do not obtain their normal height, and disturbances of mental development also occur.

Babies should be examined at regular intervals by the physician because, through such examination, abnormal conditions such as cretinism may be discovered while there is still time to correct them.

Muncie Snaps 4-Game Losing Streak with 8-3 Win Over Marion Cubs

Reds Retain League Lead; Bruins Drop to 7th Place

By BILL BREM

The Muncie Reds ended a four-game losing streak and retained the lead in the Ohio-Indiana league last night by downing Marion's Cubs, 8-3 behind the five-hit pitching of Ray Trava

The win put the Reds a full game ahead of the runner-up Springfield Giants, whose game at Zanesville was rained out but slipped Marion into seventh place, ten games behind.

The Reds will meet the Bruins again tonight at Lincoln park before completing their current road trip with a weekend series at Lima Richmond's Braves will be the Cubs weekend foe here

Y's Men Honored

A crowd of 532 included the Y's Mens Service club who were guests of the ball club in honor of their services to athletics in Marion The Y's Mens club recently donated $1 000 to the Harding High school athletic commission and they annually sponsor the Golden Gloves boxing tournaments

Pitcher Trava limited the Bruins to one hit until the eighth inning when four blocks and a Muncie error produced Marion's three markers

Meanwhile Muncie led by Hal Treiner who hit safely three times including a two-run homer in the eighth touched Jim Edgar for 11 blows

The win gave the Reds a 7 3 edge over the Cubs and was their fifth straight win over the locals Trava having launched the streak with a 9-8 win here May 28 It marked the first time a Muncie hurler has gone the distance since taking to the road Saturday

Fancy Fielding Helps

The curve ball artist was aided by some fancy fielding in limiting the Cubs to five hits for the Bruins were meeting his ban Frankie Santora left fielder recently acquired from the Newark Yankees personally robbed Cub Manager Zeke Bekeza of a pair of hits by plucking two of Zeke's long fly balls off the left field wall Muncie outfielders made ten putouts Trava whiffed seven one less than Edgar who was charged with his fourth loss

A walk Carl Bush's triple and Arnold Davis' single scored two Muncie runs in the first inning and another runner scored in the fifth off a single Trava's sacrifice and an infield fly and a Marion error

Wayne Carson plated a pair in the six in a triple along the left field line and Treiner's two-run homer over the left field wall extended Muncie's lead to 7-0 in the eighth

Launches Rally

Don Schmitt launched a Marion rally in the last of the eighth by hitting an outside pitch along the first base line for a double It was the second blow off Trava Edgar having doubled in the third

Edgar flied out to deep center field and Pete Schnepf hit to second base getting a life when Muncie's Hal Sutton threw a hit to first Schmitt scoring on the throw

Gene Bobzean beat out a scratch hit and Bekeza lifted a Trava pitch over the centerfielder's head plating Schnepf and Bobzean

A single and a Marion error gave the Reds another run in the ninth

Yankees Cut Cleveland's Lead to 1½ Games with 4-0 Victory

Tribe Loses Third Game of Crucial Series As Bombers Pound Feller

By The Associated Press

Are the Cleveland Indians ready to be swiped?

Manager Lou Boudreau's American league pace-setters have lost their first crucial series of the year and Bob Feller shows no signs of returning to the form that made him one of the greatest pitchers in baseball. These two factors have cast a cloud over a once rosy outlook.

"This is the year," shouted Cleveland fans when the Tribe opened the season by tearing off six straight triumphs. Their belief that the Indians would win their first pennant since 1920 grew stronger as the Tribe opened up a comfortable lead.

Today however they are not so sure. Only a game-and-a-half separates the Indians from the pursuing world champion New York Yankees.

Win Three Games

The Yanks came into Cleveland Monday night three and a half games off the pace. They knocked off southpaw Ace Gene Bearden, lost a 5-2 game to Sam Zoldak Tuesday, beat Don Black in 11 innings Wednesday and yesterday thrashed Feller 4-0. Cleveland now has lost eight out of its last 12 starts.

Bob Feller gave up only five hits, but three of them were home run clouts by George McQuinn, Johnny Lindell and Joe Dimaggio. The round trippers accounted for all the New York runs as McQuinn smashed his after Tommy Henrich drew one of the two walks Feller issued. Dimaggio's poke was his 17th of the season.

Philadelphia's third-place Athletics pulled to within two games of the Indians by nosing out the Browns, 6-5, in a night game at St. Louis.

A four-run eighth inning rally highlighted by Perrin Pain's triple and Barney McCoskey's two-bagger enabled the A's to win. The Browns culled only three hits off three Athletic pitchers but 13 bases on balls kept them in the game.

Boston Split

The up and coming Boston Red Sox divided a double-header with the White Sox in Chicago, winning the second game, 8-3, after Bill Wight pitched the White Sox to a 3-1 victory in the opener.

Ted Williams smashed his 16th and 15th homers of the year and drove in four runs to spark the Red Sox's nightcap triumph. The Red Sox slugger also boosted his league-leading batting mark from .413 to .417.

The St. Louis Cardinals stormed to within a half game of the first place Boston Braves in the National league pennant race by trouncing the Braves, 11-2, in a night game at Boston.

The Brooklyn Dodgers dumped the Pittsburgh Pirates twice 6-2 and 8-6 at Brooklyn. The second game was halted after the Pirates' half of the eighth inning because of darkness. The twin setbacks dropped the Pirates from second to third place and moved the Dodgers from sixth to fifth.

At New York, the Chicago Cubs and the Giants divided a twin bill, the Giants winning the first game, 3-2, and the Cubs the second, 11-2.

A scheduled day game between Washington and Detroit and a night game between Cincinnati and Philadelphia were postponed because of rain.

GIANTS HAVE CHANCE TO OVERTAKE REDS

By The Associated Press

Springfield's Giants had a fine chance today to pull themselves up by their own shoelaces into first place in the Ohio-Indiana baseball league.

Here's how that bit of climbing might be accomplished:

The Giants are one full game behind Muncie's rambling Reds, the loop leaders. They play a doubleheader at Zanesville tonight, while the Reds tangle in a single game at Marion.

A double win for the Giants a defeat for the Reds—that's the way the lead could change hands.

The Reds stopped a four-game losing streak last night, drubbing Marion's Cubs, 8-3.

Springfield was rained out at Zanesville, but at Lima the Terriers topped Richmond's basement Braves, 6-5, before a Shriners night crowd of 2,850. As a zany note to the proceedings, Shriners handcuffed Lin Southworth of Richmond, the losing pitcher and escorted him to the local bastile.

Portsmouth nipped Newark in another loop contest 3-2 with Don Whitmore scattering Newark's nine safe blows effectively.

The line scores:

Portsmouth	000 111 000—3	6 0
Newark	000 001 100—2	9 2

Whitmore and Arcont; Finel, Norton (8) and Maroney.

Richmond	001 030 001—5	14 4
Lima	002 000 12x—6	8 1

Campbell, Southworth (5) and Mullin; Pope, Bohne (9) and Starts.

Fesler Not Interested In Returning to Pitt

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, June 28—Wesley Fesler says he has a job to do at his alma mater—Ohio State—and is not interested in becoming athletic director at Pittsburgh.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said yesterday that Fesler denied hearing from anyone at Pitt about the job but wasn't interested anyway.

The newspaper said Fesler had been mentioned frequently as a possible successor to athletic director Jimmy Hagen whose resignation is to become effective July 1.

"I have not heard from anyone at Pitt and I wouldn't be interested if I did," Fesler told the newspaper from his home at Columbus last night. "I've got a difficult task at Ohio and I've made up my mind to solve it."

Fesler said he had made up his mind to lick this thing or get out of the coaching business. We will be improved this season but it's tough competition in the western conference."

Fesler coached at Pitt in 1946 leaving for Ohio State last year.

In 1939 Britain was importing between seven and eight million tons of livestock feed annually.

Keiser and Haefner Take Lead in Inverness Matches

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., June 28—Herman Keiser of Akron, O., and his partner, Ray Clayton Haefner of Charlotte, N. C., wheeled right out in front in the first round of the $11,630 Inverness eleventh annual four-ball matches with a five-up victory over former Open champion Lloyd Mangrum and curly-haired Dick Metz, clipping seven strokes off par with a 64.

Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock popped up with eight birdies and a 63, best score of the day, in downing Johnny Palmer and "Skip" Alexander both of North Carolina, two up.

And Ed Furgol of Detroit, aided no end by Bobby Locke, the South African king, piled up the biggest mess of birdies—nine—in winning two up with a 30-34—64 over Chick Harbert, another Detroit clouter and Vic Ghezzi, another former PGA winner, from the seventh through the 17th holes. Furgol and Locke scored six straight birdies but lost some of their edge when they missed par on two of the late holes.

Ex-Texans Win

In the other match the tourney favorites transplanted Texans Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif. and Ben Hogan the National Open and PGA champion, from Hershey, Pa., sauntered to a three-up victory over Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis and Jim Ferrier the Australian-born PGA winner in 1947.

The field shot 68 birdies in the first round. Locke and Furgol took the lead with nine in the race for the $250 prize which goes to the duo with the most sub-par holes in the 126-hole stretch ending Sunday.

The Palmer-Alexander pair might have been three down, instead of two, but for a freak incident on the ninth hole, a dog-leg 492-yard par five.

Palmer's second shot hit a bare-headed gallery-ite on the pate, the ball bounding fully 70 yards on the fly to a trap in front of the green instead of into deep rough behind trees to the left. Johnny blasted out to within five feet and ran the putt down for a birdie to halve the hole.

Teams Get "Plus"

Under the Inverness system under which each of the eight two-somes plays each other pair in full 18-hole rounds, a team gets a "plus" equal to the number of holes it finishes up on an opponent, and the losers get a corresponding minus.

As they go into today's double round the standing is:

Haefner-Keiser plus 5; Hogan-Demaret, plus 3; Locke-Furgol plus 2; Harrison-Hamilton plus 2; Harbert-Ghezzi minus 2; Palmer-Alexander, minus 2; Middlecoff-Ferrier minus 3; Mangrum-Metz, minus 5.

Softball Slants

(This is the first of a series of articles on Marion softball)

By GEORGE SCOTT

World series, no-hitters, and slug-fests are not just something to read about for players and spectators of Marion's softball leagues.

One night a week the teams of each league battle it out for the league championship. Then the four winners tangle the first of September in Marion's softball "Little World Series."

If you doubt that softball can be thrilling listen to this. On June 7th of this year Forest Lawn Presbyterian nine walloped St. Mary's junior team 23 to 3 in a Church league contest.

If you don't think softball can be well-played and pitched, harken. Guy Lewis hurled a no-hitter for W. & W. Provision Co. against Bird-McGinnis Post 162. The score was 1-0 with opposing pitcher Dwight Wilcox allowing only two hits.

THE CHURCH LEAGUE plays on Monday night with games beginning at 6:15. The diamonds are Garfield park, McKinley park, Eagles field, and St. Mary's field.

This league operates on a two round system. Teams during the first round can change players and play each other once. The second round is played with no new players allowed. The second round winner plays the first round winner and the victor is league champ.

Rev. Ellis E. Guthrie of 155 Reed avenue is both manager and pitcher of the First church of the Brethren team.

St. Mary's senior team with a record of five wins and no losses leads the league. Forest Lawn Presbyterian tied with Epworth Methodist for second place, is defending champion.

The Marion city softball commission of 12 members is elected by two representatives from each team in the four leagues at a dinner every April. The commission meets once a month to discuss rule changes and protests.

THE OFFICERS of the commission are Elmer Mulvaine of 336 Willow street president, Harold Smith of 536 Forest street, vice president, Bob Minard of 1044 East Center street, secretary, and Roy Waddell of Home Federal Savings and Loan, treasurer.

Other members of the commission are Wade Conkle of 238 Patten street, Wes Wilcox of 200 Forest street, Charles Murray of 643 North Main street, Lawrence Edington of 813 North Main street, Watt Merchant of 301 North Prospect street, Forest Sharrock of 240 Silver street, Robert Kelly of 275 Clover avenue, Paul Tong of Waldo, Lawrence Weiss of near Marion, and Elmer Smith of 587 Mirna.

COOLER KEEPS LEAD IN INDUSTRIAL LOOP

All three games in the Industrial softball league went off in style last night, with Marion Power Shovel registering the only decisive victory in pushing Commercial Steel into the league cellar by a score of 10-1. The men with the big shovels had big bats which they used in pounding out 13 hits off Commercial's Aldrich and Frank. Hartley counted three safeties and Arcuri and Jones two each in leading M.P.S. Fulcher and Biggerstaff each got two for Commercial.

Universal Cooler maintained top standing in the league (6-0) with a 1-0 shutout by Kunkle over Huber, and Pollak eased by Fairfield, 9-7, to take a share of fourth place with M.P.S. Both have won two and lost four.

Cooler won its game in the last frame when pinch hitter Paulus drove a long ball through Crowder for a triple and scored when Keel made a poor peg from right field. Millison of Huber gave up two hits, a double by Charlie Reid and the triple by Paulus. Pete Howison collected Huber's lone hit, a single in the sixth. This was Jimmy Kunkle's third one-hitter of the season.

Lumberson walked 11 batters and hit two and Stanley of Pollak struck out 10 to make the difference in Pollak's two-run edge over Fairfield.

WARNS RETAILERS AGAINST FIREWORKS

Reports Case of Misrepresentation to Merchant.

Marion county retailers were warned today by Sheriff LeRoy Retterer against accepting orders for certain types fireworks represented by salesmen as being legal in the state of Ohio.

His warning came after a store owner made inquiry about fireworks ordered from a salesman representing an Ohio firm. The salesman had led him to believe that the ban applied only to the more dangerous type and did not apply to such harmless things as sparklers, snakes and fountains, firework that are not of the detonating type.

Assuming the salesman was telling the truth, the store owner signed for a sizeable order which arrived last Friday. Upon reading in The Marion Star that the anti-fireworks ban would be strictly enforced in Marion county and covered all fireworks with the exception of toy cap pistols or devices using the paper caps he awoke to the fact that he had been taken in.

Sheriff Retterer repeated that under the general code of Ohio retail sale of all fireworks except paper caps is banned. Fireworks may be used when they are handled by professional fireworks display men licensed to conduct this type of display and work under permits issued by local law enforcement agencies and the fire chief.

Agrees To Give Back No-Work Pay to State

Special to The Star

KENTON, June 25 — It cost Charles Perry Culp of near Forest more than $286 to collect unemployment compensation while he actually was working.

A fine of $50 and costs was assessed against Culp when he pleaded guilty to the charge on arraignment before Mayor Loucks B Brown here. Mayor Brown also sentenced Culp to 30 days in jail, but suspended the sentence when the defendant agreed to pay back to the state the $236 which he had been paid illegally.

The charge was the first of its kind to be filed in Hardin county. It was filed by Don L. Schindler, investigator for the state bureau of unemployment compensation.
